of the past winter are becoming more manifest, and indications are that the railroads will have to defend themselves against a number of damage suits. On account of the immense quantities of corn at the seaboard which have been so long in delivery, much of the grain will not sell for over 5 or 10 cents per bushel. There are cases where it has been in transit for ten or twelve weeks. The Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western has a case in point. Some months ago the company accepted large quantities of corn for delivery at the seaboard and delivered it promptly to its Eastern connections; in some cases the Eastern connections forwarded it to another road at Buffalo, a point on the Erie. There it was again delayed until it was so long in the matter of delivery that the corn was practically ruined. This is mentioned only as a case in point, as there is not an Indianapolis line that is not interested in this particular feature of the situation. The shippers claim the delay on the road is responsible for these conditions, and they are preparing to bring suit for damages Many cases will be brought against railroad companies in the near future, and they will keep the legal departments busy for some time to come. Among railroad officials a belief prevails that the roads canbe held responsible for the delay, while shippers claim the roads cannot use the plea of the providence of God, which is used in the case of floods, cyclones or disasters of any kind, this being a case where the roads were short of facilities to handle the business. To say the matter is exciting a good deal of interest is no exag-

A New Air Brake.

Officials of the Pennsylvania have under advisement the adoption of a new air-brake that may supplant the Westinghouse appliance on all of its trains, even its fast between the two interests. freight trains. Tests have been made on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago in the use of a device invented by a New York man and several engines have been equipped. The new device is known as the 'normal triple valve." The brake differs from the Westinghouse, and it is stated that the New York inventor has refused an offer of $500,000 for his invention. That such conditions exist is shown by the action taken by the Westinghouse Company to prove the superiority of their devices. Representatives of that concern, accom-panied by J. K. Russell, road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania, and J. R. Alexander, air-brake inspector for the railroad company, are now making a thorough inspection of brakes installed by the West-inghouse company on the Toledo, St. Louis & Western.
